

Country house to reform in Ibiza

REF. :24011896

Description

Charming finca to be reformed situated in the picturesque countryside of Ibiza, surrounded by majestic mountains offering an atmosphere of tranquillity and privacy. Despite its rural location, the property has convenient and direct access via a paved road, ensuring ease of arrival. The surroundings offer a unique serenity, with few neighbours in close proximity, ensuring a peaceful and exclusive environment. The property, in need of renovation, presents an excellent opportunity for those looking to personalise their home in a natural and authentic setting. The property is located on rustic land classified as communal, which allows for the possibility of extending the property, making the most of the ample square metres available. This development potential makes this finca an ideal investment to create a dream residence on one of the most enchanting islands in the Mediterranean. Don't miss the opportunity to visit this unique property, where the natural beauty of Ibiza and the potential for transformation combine to offer an unparalleled real estate project.
